Learning Disability

Livingstone Health Care has been providing support to people with learning disabilities since 2006, and whether supporting you in your own home or in supported accommodation, we recognise that everyone's support needs are different. It is our ethos to understand an individual's strengths and abilities and adapt our service accordingly, providing enabling support that develops independence and promotes involvement in day-to-day activities. We have specialist teams for learning disabilities, physical disabilities and mental health conditions; their expertise and experience is available across all of our services.

We also have experience in supporting individuals with greater abilities, who may only require a few hours of support per week. With a long-standing reputation for delivering and providing expert services, Livingstone Health Care is fully involved in advocating and championing rights for people with learning disabilities. Our staff are highly trained and have an extensive knowledge of many different areas of learning disability. These include: behaviours that challenge; autistic spectrum disorders; complex health needs; communication difficulties; sensory impairment. recognising the above, we work in partnership with our specialist learning disability locally

Why choose us

Livingstone Health Care's commitment to excellence begins with pre-hire screenings and background checks. Our rigid application process allows us to be selective. To meet the unique needs of our culturally diverse region, our agency employs numerous carers who are bilingual.

We believe that everyone deserves to be treated with dignity and respect and that their emotional and mental well-being are significantly important. You may be looking for care for a friend, relation or just planning your own future. At home, our service users can continue their life as normal as possible, in dignity and surrounded by their own valuable things.

Patient satisfaction is our first priority. We will never send anyone to your home that would not be welcome in ours. Our personnel has the appropriate certificates, licenses and experience to provide personalized care.
